DIRECTIONS.

This report will be carefully preserved with the records of the company for information of the company commander and medical officer, as it may be of value in determining the origin of disease and injuries in claims for pension. That the record may be clear, erasures by knife are prohibited; a line drawn across an erroneous entry will sufficiently indicate its obliteration. All obliterations and corrections must be authenticated by the certificate of the officer making the same, which will be written across the page.

LINE OF DUTY.

All diseases or injuries occurring while the officer or soldier is in the military service of the United States should be considered as originating in the line of duty, unless the officer knows personally or by credible information: 1st, that the disease or injury existed before entering the service; 2d, that it was incurred while absent from duty on furlough or otherwise, or—3d, that it resulted from willful neglect, or immoral conduct of the sick man himself.
